TWO DAY INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

ON

MAJOR TRENDS IN RHETORICAL AND STYLISTIC EXEGESIS OF QURAN

Al-Quran is the first written book in the Arabic literary tradition. Since its inception it has influenced its immediate recipients in multiple manners. And it has continued to immensely influence its followers through ages. Personal, social, economic, political, spiritual, and many other facets of Muslim civilizations have not only been influenced but in principle driven by this extraordinary book.

The engagement of common Muslims, non-Muslims, scholars, jurists, historians, orientalist, and academicians has been enormous in range and approach to draw the meanings from the Quranic text.

Although Quran is written in an established language, yet its text is reported to have been intensely studied and analyzed since the Prophets' (SAW) time. To convey its message, the Quran employs various stylistic tools and approaches in order to illustrate its message.

One of the various approaches to Quran and its meanings is the Bayani/Balaghi or the rhetorical and stylistic approach.

The current conference will focus on these literary, stylistic and rhetorical aspects of scholarly and academic engagement with the Quranic text. Main focus would be to bring to the light major contributors and their key ideas in this field from classical times and their reception in the contemporary era.

In the above context, the Department of Arabic Language and Literature, Islamic University of Science and Technology, Awantipora, J&K intends to organize a Two Day International conference entitled: Major Trends in rhetorical and stylistic exegesis of Quran on 16-17 of October 2018.
